A Resource Directory for Churches

Second Edition

Working with Older People: A Resource Directory for Churches

Second Edition February 2006

It is eighteen months since this Directory was first published in hard copy in May 2004 by the Leveson Centre in collaboration with MHA Care Group. We hoped that it would be an important step towards challenging many of the prevalent attitudes both in society and church about age and ageing and that churches both nationally and locally might begin to value and affirm the many good things that are happening amongst older people across the country and to see older people as an enormous spiritual, political and human resource for mission and ministry.

The research for this publication was carried out by the Leveson Centre consultant Alison Johnson between November 2003 and May 2004. We are now publishing this second edition which is available for downloading on both the Leveson Centre website (www.levesoncentre.org.uk) and the MHA website (www.mha.org.uk). We have not had the resources to check all the entries for the second edition but changes of which we are aware have been made for the downloadable copies and for owners of the first edition, new pages and a full list of minor amendments are available on the web or from the addresses overleaf.

The Directory aims to prevent unnecessary duplication by ensuring that people engaged in similar work are aware of each other's involvement and can share experiences together. It is in four sections:

- Section 1 National church-related organisations which are carrying out continuing work.
(GREEN)
- Section 2 Local organisations or projects in individual churches which are either innovative or seen by local people as important enough to employ a paid worker.
(BLUE)
- Section 3 Diocesan and similar church bodies with a particular interest in ageing issues.
(YELLOW)
- Section 4 Individuals working in this area but not specifically mentioned in the entry for any organisation included in the earlier sections.
(RED)

The Appendix lists some secular bodies identified during the research which are carrying out work of relevance to the spiritual needs of older people. (WHITE)

It is our hope that this directory will be one small step towards actualising our vision for changing the way older people are conceptualised and responded to in all of our churches today.

The Revd Dr James Woodward
Director, Leveson Centre for the Study of Ageing, Spirituality and Social Policy

Disclaimer

In compiling the Directory we contacted the national headquarters of the major Christian denominations and trawled as widely as possible for examples of church-related work with older people. We are however very aware that there is no possibility of being comprehensive, nor of including work carried out by other faith groups and there will be many omissions which we hope users of this Directory will rectify by notifying us of work with which they are familiar.

Please send amendments/alterations/additions to Alison Johnson at the Leveson Centre.

Hard copies of this Directory are available price £7.50 (in plastic wallet) or £15.00 (in A4 binder). Orders including a cheque payable to The Foundation of Lady Katherine Leveson should be sent to Temple House, Fen End Road, Temple Balsall, Knowle, Solihull B93 0AN. Copies can also be ordered on line using a credit card on the Leveson Centre website www.levesoncentre.org.uk or bought in person from the Leveson Centre for only £6.00.

Name	The National Spirituality and Mental Health Forum
Section	1
Location	National based in London
Purpose	The Forum was first formed in 2000 and grew out of the small publication committee involved with the former Health Education Authority in the production of the Book 'Promoting Mental Health - The Role of Faith Communities - Jewish and Christian Perspectives' (1999). In its first years the forum was administered under the auspices of the Sainsbury Centre for Mental Health in London, presently it is being administered by the Jewish Mental Health Alliance on behalf of all faith communities. The last three years it has run in parallel with the National Spirituality and Mental Health Project directed by the DoH/NIMHE and The Mental Health Foundation joint partnership directed by Professor Peter Gilbert. The purpose of the Forum is to organise meetings with speakers, to disseminate knowledge to all interested in spirituality and its importance in mental health services. The coverage includes those in mental health teams, universities, medical schools, health institutes, societies and associations, voluntary agencies, the Home Office and other relevant government departments.

Purpose	The Ecumenical Volunteer Patient Support Programme is a volunteer-based service. The Visiting Service supports older people through their first few days after discharge from hospital. Volunteers receive training and visit patients on a regular basis to ensure that they are comfortable, reassured and feel secure. Any concerns are reported back to the co-ordinator who will contact the relevant agencies where necessary. The Patient Support Programme is within several hospitals in Lincolnshire. Volunteers are involved in the social care of patients and in helping with their non-clinical needs, for example assisting with feeding, writing letters or taking patients off the ward to other parts of the hospital for hair dressing, shopping etc. The volunteers and ward staff work together for the benefit of the patients. The Orders of St John Care Trust also runs care homes in Lincolnshire, Oxfordshire and Wiltshire.

Name	London Cheam - New Horizons Joint Project
Section	2
Location	London - Cheam
Purpose	St Andrew's URC and Abbeyfield Society have worked alongside each other in partnership for nearly thirty years. A substantial legacy to the society by a St Andrew's member enabled the employment of a retired URC minister for 21 hours a week to develop work with older people, and act as chaplain to care homes in the area. The church and the society share a vision for a redesigned site that updates and upgrades the church's hall facilities, provides purpose built independent living accommodation for older people and includes an integrated care centre. The neighbourhood survey carried out by St Andrew's in 2001 highlighted a need for better facilities for young people and these are also seen as a high priority. The vision is of a Christian centre for the community where people of all ages are accommodated, encouraged and valued - a centre that "buzzes" with activity throughout the week. The project is barely in its infancy. Feasibility studies, market research, the canvassing of opinion and stimulating thought, prayer and debate are all underway with the production of plans for discussion scheduled for early 2004.

Purpose	A full-time pastoral assistant at All Saints Thorpe Acre organises a comprehensive ministry to older people in the parish. In addition to pastoral visiting, the weekly programme includes Four O'Clock Focus, a weekly Sunday afternoon service for older people with transport provided and tea afterwards; Tuesday morning communion at 11 am, again with transport provided; Wednesday cell group for older people which has been in existence for 10 years; Thursday Club, a weekly programme of speakers and activities with transport; Friday lunch club (currently suspended due to problems with helpers). In addition outings are arranged and holidays where five volunteers and the paid pastoral assistant take 40 older people away. The highlight of the year is the Christmas party where over 100 older people attend. The vital ingredient in this work is the existence of a paid pastoral assistant to organise and visit.

Name	Morecambe - CHIPS (Christian Help in Partnership)
Section	2
Location	Morecambe
Purpose	CHIPS is an inter-church project which aims to address the unmet needs of socially isolated older people living in Morecambe of all faiths or none. Pauline Elder, a full-time paid social worker, is project director and she also has a deputy for 14 hours a week. Funded by the churches and from trusts and charities including the Church Urban Fund for five years, 70 Christian volunteers provide a befriending and visiting service for lonely older people referred by social services. Volunteers also help with shopping, gardening, wheelchair pushing and helping to find suitable care homes. A fisherman's cottage has been converted into the Open Door Centre, a drop in centre run by a Centre Manager employed for 20 hours a week. All refreshments are provided free of charge. The project has experimented with the use of young volunteers from local high schools (who work alongside an adult volunteer) and local students. CHIPS provides placements for social work students from Lancaster University and was also involved in the housing options project led by Professor Roger Clough.

Purpose	Sheffield CCCC is an ecumenical project established by the churches over thirty years ago. It delivers a range of caring services for vulnerable people whether or not they have any connection with the church. They had funding from the Henry Smith Charity for a three-year project to enhance the quality of life and well being of people living in residential care by facilitating the consistent delivery of social, emotional and spiritual support offered by staff, volunteers, churches and the wider community. Jo Airey was the project worker at the start of the project and was succeeded by Sonia Henry. They worked in nine homes in the Sheffield area but unfortunately it has not been possible to find funding to maintain the staff post. Sheffield CCCC however hopes to work with existing and new partners, locally and in national networks to maintain the key elements of the project.

Purpose	PSALM (Project for Seniors And Lifelong Ministry) is a small independent charity developing opportunities for continuing work and ministry by and for older people in London. This is mainly conducted through the provision of lectures, seminars and hands-on training. Training programmes include a five-week pastoral care course for active retired people (and others) who wish to share in the pastoral and outreach work of their local church, and a five-week course to train volunteers to visit elderly people in their homes. Seminars are held two or three times a year on subjects which address the needs of both the frail and the active amongst the older generation in London and have included sessions on preparing for retirement, aspects of loss, strokes, and the effects of changing patterns of ageing on society. A network of parish workers/volunteers in London focusing specifically on the needs of older people is being developed and a modest resource centre has been set up at St Pancras Church.

Purpose	Spiritual Care for Older People: The Extra Dimension (SCOP) aims to offer spiritual care and ministry to older people who are either regular churchgoers who can no longer attend church or those who are discovering a new interest in spiritual questions as they get older. It has a steering group which includes hospital chaplains, medical social workers and church representatives - including older people. A series of training days has been developed and delivered focusing on issues of communication, loss, working in partnership with other agencies and worship. SCOP has attracted two one-off grants of £10,000 each, enabling them to recruit a co-ordinator for about 12 hours a week to develop the work. She will focus on supporting those in parishes (initially in Oxford city) who would like to develop this area of ministry.

Name	Spirited Scotland
Section	Appendix
Location	National based in Edinburgh
Purpose	Spirited Scotland is a Scottish Executive funded programme which works alongside Patient Focus and Public Involvement and Cultural Competence programmes. It offers an opportunity for research, education and development via a programme of work that includes educational events for NHS Trusts. These courses 'Confidence with Spiritual Issues in Health and Social Care' are run in the Health Care Trusts and are aimed at a multi-professional group to enable participants to develop confidence in responding to the spiritual needs of clients and patients within the context of an holistic approach to health and social care. One of the consequences of the course is that it identifies people within the Trust who are willing to be involved in further work related to spiritual issues in health. Currently, in conjunction with the Centre for the Study of Spirituality and Health in Aberdeen University, Spirited Scotland is conducting a research programme considering the role of the hospital chaplain in Scottish NHS Trusts. This coincides with the issuing of a health directive letter in 2002 which requires Trusts to develop a spiritual care policy.
